

1st Semester 2018 Highlights

Achievement

248 Master Trainers (Program and Private Sector Staff)
57% Output Achievement to Date

Program and private sector staff, as well as representatives from SMEs and farmer organizations, receive extensive training. This ensures that knowledge stays within the community. Since 2012, the program has trained 2,732 master trainers.

76 Extension Officers
38% Output Achievement to Date

SCPP recognizes the importance of engaging with relevant government networks. The program helps develop the capacity of extension officers to build up. Since 2012, the program has trained 1,406 government extension officers.

639 Cocoa Producer Groups (CPG)
129% Output Achievement to Date

Farmer led organizations act as a support network for fellow farmers. In some cases, farmer groups can negotiate as a single unit to achieve better outcomes. Since 2012, the program supported 5,964 producer groups.

200 Clonal and Budwood Gardens
222% Output Achievement to Date

Farmers need access to superior clones and planting material in order to achieve optimal production. Since 2012, the program has supported and/or established 200 hectares of clonal gardens.

81,574 m² of total nursery area
82% Accumulative Achievement

To help address the issue of aging cocoa farms, SCPP supports nurseries so that the growing demand for seedlings is met.

19,049 Farmers Trained on GAP
97% Output Achievement to Date

Good Agricultural Practices is the cornerstone of SCPP's suite of trainings. It promotes responsible production practices that can also increase production. Since 2012, the program has trained 154,952 farmers on GAP.

16,200 Farmers Trained on GEP
54% Output Achievement to Date

Good Environmental Practices encourages farmers to be mindful of the surrounding ecosystem, which can improve the function of the farm in the landscape. Since 2014, the program has trained 110,952 farmers on GEP.

10,962 Farmers Trained on GNP
62% Output Achievement to Date

Household health is as equally important as environmental health. Good Nutritional Practices training teaches families about the importance of balanced diets and proper feeding habits. Since 2013, the program has trained 70,928 households on GNP.

8,843 Farmers Trained on GFP
38% Output Achievement to Date

Families need to be financially literate to overcome poverty. Good Financial Practices training teaches farmers how to manage cash flow and anticipate future expenses. Since 2014, the program has trained 61,824 households on GFP.

136,883 Hectares of Cocoa Farmland
80% Output Achievement to Date

Cumulatively, it is estimated that 136,883 hectares of cocoa farm land is maintained with better farm management practices based on the number of farmers trained on GAP.

28,894 Farmers Certified
40% Output Achievement to Date

Certification opens doors for farmers that are committed to cocoa and adopt best practices for their farm, surrounding environment and household. Since 2012, the program has helped facilitate certification for 61,440 farmers.

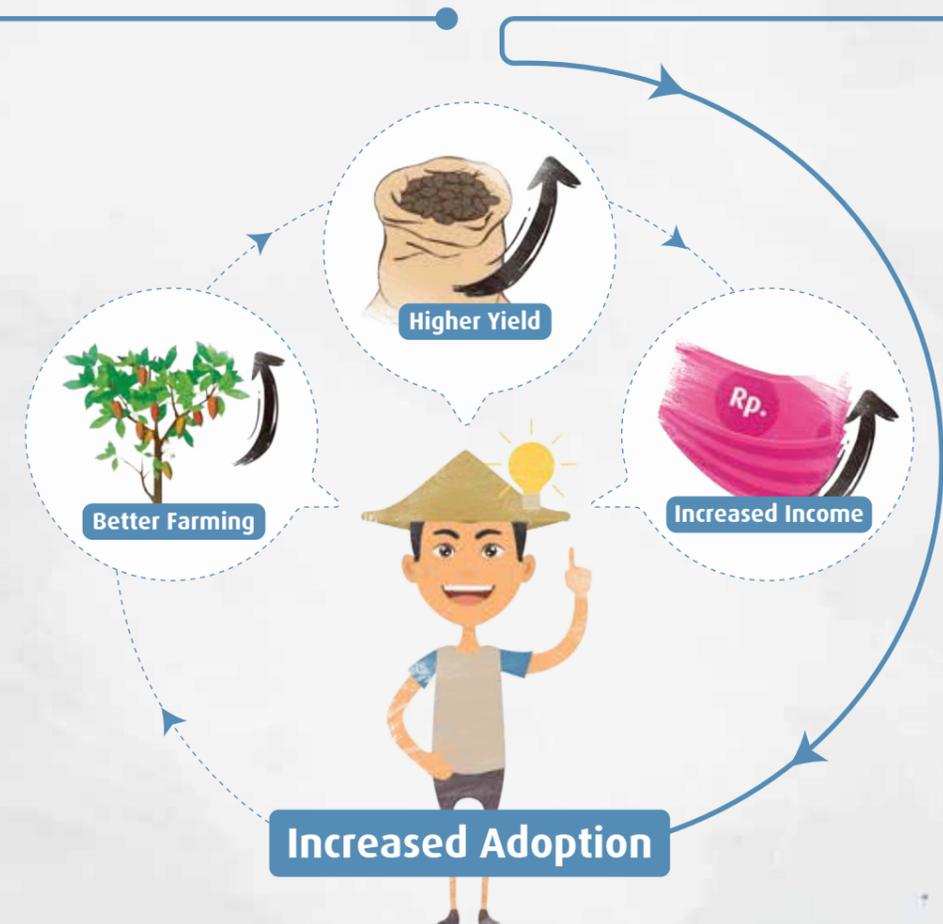

767,434,500 Premium Payment in IDR
97% Output Achievement to Date

Farmers are rewarded for the extra effort they make to farm sustainably. This incentive encourages ongoing adoption of the sustainable practices that SCPP promotes. Since 2015, a total IDR 12,973,008,703 in premium payments has been disbursed.

Innovation

Farmer Coaching	Social Network Analysis (SNA)	Certificate Holder Engagement
SCPP has begun trialing one-on-one coaching as an approach to promote adoption. Farmers are visited on their farm where the coach provides tailored advice. The farmer agrees to plan of follow-up actions that will be monitored by knowledgeable cocoa farmers in the area that have been trained by SCPP.	SNA will explore the linkages and relationships between farmers, their peers, and community influencers, particularly in how they relate to knowledge transfer on cocoa cultivation. The resulting 'map' of these informal relationships will help SCPP design interventions to improve the rate of adoption, accelerate knowledge diffusion, and build trust within certified supply chains.	There are over 30 certificate holders in SCPP's implementation areas. A certificate holder's role is to organize a sustainable supply chain, including farmer outreach and productivity services. SCPP has started to offer strategic advisory services for the certificate holders to help them best support cocoa farmers in their network.

Stories from the Field

Mutmainnah - 740811319
North Kolaka, Southeast Sulawesi

Women as a Catalyst of Change, Mutmainnah's Story

Mutmainnah used to be preoccupied with everyday life in Lambopini Village, North Kolaka, Southeast Sulawesi. She didn't consider herself to be outgoing and rarely had the chance to leave her village. In 2016, she participated in the Cocoa Life program where she attended training on household economic management, public speaking and leadership skills. Mutmainnah is now an active member of multiple village committees and associations. Mutmainnah's efforts have not only benefitted herself, but the wider community as well. She has become an influential figure in her village and encourages other women to participate in village associations. Now, the elected head of the village often invites her to attend important meetings outside the district as a representative.

Amir K - 760400272
Mamuju, West Sulawesi

Safety Practices for Better Quality Beans

Farmer Field School teaches farmers not only how to improve production and quality, but also how to manage the farm in a way that is safe for personal health and the environment. Amir knows that farming cocoa is not hazard-free. After attending training, he better understands how to mitigate risks. He wears protective equipment to prevent chemical inhalation and digs holes where he can safely bury toxic residues to prevent environmental contamination. After complying with rigorous certification standards and adopting Good Agricultural Practices, Amir harvested 3,000 kgs of cocoa beans in 2017, worth IDR 75 million (USD 5,565), based on his personal sales records.
